

ABSTRACT

A canister guard for preventing liquid contamination of an outlet to a canister containing liquid. The canister guard may include baffles extending from a sidewall. Additionally, the canister guard may be configured to be replaceable or for retrofitting to conventional liquid chemical containing canisters.